51. Read the passage below carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Animals are living things which are useful to people. They are grouped into two namely; domestic and wild animals. Examples of domestic animals include cows, goats, sheep, cats, rabbits, dogs and pigs. They are domestic due to the fact that they are kept at home.

These animals are kept for different reasons; for example, dogs provide security whereas cows, goats are kept for their milk and meat. The cats help to chase away mice which are destructive. These animals also have to be cared for properly in order to get the best out of them by providing them with shelter, feeding them properly and even treating them in case of diseases. The vet ensures that they are in good health. Much as they are animals, they should be looked after well.

Wild animals are also useful. Some of these wild animals are lions, zebras, snakes, monkeys, kobs to mention but a few. They attract tourists who bring foreign exchange to the country. We should protect them to avoid extinction. Some of the areas where these animals are protected include zoos, game parks and sanctuaries. However, sometimes, they are killed illegally by hunters and poachers.

I therefore advise the government to put strict laws in place to curb this poaching such that even the future generation will be able to see these animals.

Questions :-

1. What is the passage about?

2. Which animals are kept for both milk and meat?

3. How important are dogs in our homes?

4. Why should wild animals be protected according to the passage?

51. Read the passage below carefully and answer the questions that follow.

It was my first time to travel by train. This was in 2015 when my uncle Zaake told me to go on a trip with him to Tanzania. I could not imagine, it looked like a dream, time came we boarded the train at about 6:00 o'clock.

We sat in the economy class, good enough there was my classmate, Konde Moses with whom I was in Primary Three. Just as we had travelled for nearly 50kms, we had a stopover to add fuel in the train. I got chance to buy some items to eat and also ease myself.

We then steadily travelled through valleys and swamps. Many parts in Tanzania are dry as compared to those in Uganda. At this point of time my uncle had fallen asleep, I didn't wake him up because I was enjoying fun with my classmate.

When we were about to reach our destination, the conductor started checking the tickets. My uncle gave the conductor the ticket.

We reached our destination at around midnight. Good enough my brother, Luule Amosi had come to pick us at Gilgil station. As we went home, I could not say a word because I was extremely tired. The next day I woke up at midday and I had breakfast.

I spent five days in Tanzania and we returned home by air because travelling by train is quite tiring.

51. Read the passage below carefully and answer in full sentences, the questions that follow.

Children have various rights and responsibilities at home or at school. According to the children's statute of 1917, a child is any person below the age of eighteen. Children's rights among others include the right to food, clothing, medical care, shelter, guidance and education. In addition to the above, children are fully entitled to live with their biological parents or guardians. They also possess the right to play.

The same statute also states that children should be protected from all forms of violence, abuse, neglect and social discrimination. Children should, therefore, be allowed their freedom of speech, worship and association.

Besides their rights, children have a number of responsibilities at home or in society. They must help their parents or guardians to perform house chores which include fetching water, peeling and cooking food, washing crockery and mopping the house. This is therefore, the responsibility of both parents and guardians to teach their children acceptable behaviours in society, such as worshipping God, greeting elders, how one oneself can while in public, and attending social or cultural ceremonies such as weddings, graduations and funerals.

While at school all teachers should help school children learn to carry out the school daily routine such as class work, homework, sweeping the classrooms with the guidance of a rota, studying time tables. If all the above are well implemented, there is not doubt and worry about children understanding their rights and responsibilities so as to lead a joyful life.

An oppressed child

I do not know who can help me

Because everything tortures me psychologically,

Hunger, coldness, diseases and enmity

All are my enemies.

An oppressed child

My friends with whom I play

Sometimes do not help me

When I am abused.

That I am poor.

An oppressed child

At school, where I spend most of my hours

I am tossed up and down by my teachers

When I fail to give a correct answer

That I am dull.

An oppressed child

But great thanks to God Almighty

All my cries and prayers have been answered

The children's statute was introduced

The right for all oppressed children

Who are like me

All dressed to kill
In preparation for the wedding mass
Just a few minutes away

The bride and her bridesmaid in a salon
Where they were being beautified
The flower girl and pageboy
Also smartening themselves.

What a colourful ceremony it was!
The reception at Lido Beach, Entebbe
Well beautified by all the relatives and friends
Ready to receive the bride and groom
The bridesmaid and the best man
The flower girl and the pageboy
Together with the rest of the entourage
The guests being seated by ushers
With welcoming smiles on their faces
Choirs, the troupe, band and the orchestra
Entertaining the guest and the owners of the day

Dear _____,
_____: _____ FOR BEATING A PUPIL.

I have written this letter asking to be forgiven for _____ a Primary One West Pupil. This happened as a result of that girl _____ on my shiny well-polished shoes. The act took place at lunch time.

I beg to be forgiven for I will not misbehave again. If I repeat the act, I suggest that I should be reported by my class teacher to the head teacher’s office to face an expulsion.

I will be very grateful if my apology is put under your kind consideration.

Yours truly,
